

The AIIM Group Joins CIP4

The AIIM Group is proud to report that it has joined the CIP4 organization as an associate member. CIP4 - The Cooperation for Integration of Processes in Prepress, Press and Postpress, is a group dedicated to the modern day of print production by overseeing the adoption and implementation of the Job Definition Format (JDF) standard. JDF is a powerful standard based on an open source XML Schema that is being implemented today and will eventually be able to automate print production from initial quote to fulfillment. JDF is the driving force behind modern Computer Integrated Manufacturing in the printing industry, at the same time it is enabling new levels of communication between all those involved with making your communications a reality. As a member of the cooperation, AIIM will have access to the latest developments and actively participate in the community to bring about future developments based on applied considerations.

What this means to AIIM and its customers is that AIIM will continue to be able to bring improved, seamless communication to its customers. The newest technologies will enable AIIM to provide exceptional service through efficiencies in meeting and exceeding client expectations of quality and turnaround times. By joining the JDF and CIP4 initiative, AIIM will carry out its mission of using today's most advanced technologies to develop a state of the art production facility that consistently delivers our customers documents at a superb level of quality while meeting with their specified timelines.
